

MEDAL IS AWARDED TO DR. W. W. KEEN

Boston Surgical Society Confers Honor on Philadelphian for Contributions to Science

MAYO ONLY OTHER WINNER

The Henry Jacob Bigelow Medal for conspicuous contribution to the advancement of surgery was awarded last night to Dr. William W. Keen, of this city, at a meeting of the Boston Surgical Society, held in connection with the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. The award, the second made, was delivered by Dr. Harvey Cushing, president of the American College. The first award was to Dr. William J. Mayo. The usual fund was established in 1914.

Dr. Keen, often referred to as the gold marshal of the medical profession, has attained distinction for his research work and for his writings, which have become textbooks in the science of surgery. He served as surgeon in our countrymen in the Civil War, the Spanish and World Wars.

He was graduated from Brown University in 1850 and Jefferson Medical College, this city, in 1862. He was lecturer on pathological anatomy in Jefferson College from 1857 to 1859, professor of artistic anatomy in the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, 1875 to 1880; professor of surgery in the Woman's Medical College, 1884 to 1888, and professor of surgery at Jefferson from 1889 to 1901, when he resigned and was made professor emeritus.

He was president of the American Surgical Association in 1888, American Medical Association, 1890; College of Physicians, Philadelphia, 1894; Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons, 1903; and the American Philosophical Society, 1907 to 1917.

In 1920 Dr. Keen presided at sessions of the International Congress of Physicians and Surgeons in Paris and was decorated at that time by King Albert of the Belgians and King Albert in recognition for his services to the World War.

COAL PROBERS SEE HARDING AND CONSULT OPERATORS

Discuss Program for Ending Facts on Mine Operation

Washington, Oct. 26.—By A. P.—John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States Coal Commission, and Judge Alschuler, one of its members, called today upon President Harding to inform him of the progress of the commission and the present status.

Later the commission took up a conference with representatives of the anthracite industry and met a general committee representing operators of the Pennsylvania producing regions, which included R. H. Williams, New York; W. H. Rich, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company; S. D. Warrenton, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company; W. H. Williams, vice-president of Hudson Coal Company; J. E. Bergmann, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company; and A. L. Johnson, president of Judd-Hughes Coal Company.

The commission discussed with coal representatives the program of work which it had laid for finding all the facts in the operation of the mines and the production of coal.

SOCIETY ZONE UNDER FIRE: SO IS YOUNG U. S. OFFICER

Misdirected Artillery Shots Pepper Chicago Suburban Homes

Chicago, Oct. 26.—By A. P.—Lake Forest, the North Shore home of many Chicago millionaires, was under fire last night and today a young officer of Fort Sheridan is under a sort of fire.

As a result of misfired fire from field pieces, two projectiles penetrated the home of Francis H. Farwell, two other shots fell outside and a few others dropped on the estate of Cyrus McCormick and other places.

Another general George V. F. Mosley, commanding at Fort Sheridan, began an investigation and learned that a demonstration fire had been misdirected. A young officer in charge, whose name was withheld, will be dismissed.

CONVICTED MAN INNOCENT

Florida Attorney, Accused of Murder, Cleared by Confession

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 26.—By A. P.—Frank Bowles, who with John H. Pope, Jacksonville attorney, was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of George H. Hickman, widely known theatrical man, here in September, 1921, has confessed, according to Pope's attorney, that Pope had nothing to do with the killing, that he implored Pope in the hope that by so doing he would escape capital punishment.

Hawkins and Pope were sentenced to life imprisonment and the State Supreme Court last week refused Pope's request for a new trial.

Opera Star Charges Chauffeur With Attentions to Monterey Woman

SENT HIS CHECKS TO HER

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, German singer, made her first court statement yesterday in the divorce proceedings instituted by her chauffeur-husband, Paul Gleason of Monterey, Calif. She declared in a deposition that her relations with Louis Tissot of Monterey had been based on their matrimonial difficulties.

Although disclosure of his interest in the woman cost a broken heart to Special Agent Frank P. Harling, he told the court yesterday that he tried to effect a reconciliation for the sake of the child that she then expected.

Mrs. Matzenauer admits that she allowed that she helped her husband to find a job for her dress-pimping firm, which included R. H. Williams, New York; W. H. Rich, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company; S. D. Warrenton, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company; W. H. Williams, vice-president of Hudson Coal Company; J. SMASHED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER—PHILADELPHIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1922

RESUME I. W. W. TRIAL BASED ON SYNDICALISM

Witness Testifies to Finding Phosphorus Used to Set Fires

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 26.—By A. P.—Trial of ten members of the Industrial Workers of the World, charged with violating the California criminal syndicalism law, which was delayed yesterday because of the illness of Austin D. Lewis, counsel for the defendants, was to be resumed today. Only one witness, William M. Simpson, former chief of police of Stockton, was called yesterday. He testified regarding the finding of phosphorus at Stockton, alleged to have been hidden by members of the I. W. W. to set backstops of the court when endeavoring to make a return on a difficult shot. The collision with the wire backstop caused a slight abrasion on the finger, but Tilden paid no attention to it.

Several days ago the finger began to cause trouble. Recently it has been necessary to live on morphine injections. On Tuesday night it was seen an operation must come.

It is pointed out that Mr. Tilden, despite his smashing type of play, is in reality a master stroke at tennis, calling into action every kind of stroke known. This was the factor which caused Norman Brookes, the famous Australian, to term him the greatest master of strokes who ever had been seen. With the exception of his right hand, however, it is virtually certain that his mastery of stroke would be a thing of the past, thus endangering his position among the leaders of the game.

This is not the first time similar troubles have beset Mr. Tilden. The most notable case being in 1918, when he reached the final round for the national championship, with H. L. Murray as the other finalist. For some days Mr. Tilden had been affected by a series of boils on his right ankle close to the Achilles tendon.

The infection has not spread beyond Mr. Tilden's hand. It was said that his condition this morning that his condition is good.

Last of the use of the tendons which control the infected finger would cut short Mr. Tilden's career as a star in the tennis world, as the finger would be made stiff.

INFECTION'S PROGRESS HALTED

The operation was decided upon hurriedly and Mr. Tilden was taken to the hospital and placed under an anesthetic at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

Five incisions were made by Dr. Swartley, two underneath, one on each joint and one on the top above the first joint, so that the finger could be removed.

Two weeks ago in a match at Riveron, N. J., with Wallace F. Johnson, the chop-stick master, and Carl Fischer, Tilden ran into one of the

Surgeons Operate on Right Middle Member—May Affect His Participation in Future Games

William T. Tilden, 26, greatest of the world's tennis players, had an operation performed on the middle finger of his right hand yesterday at the Germantown Hospital. The finger had developed severe infection.

Alarm was felt for fear the operation might interfere with Mr. Tilden's career as a tennis player.

"Unless something unforeseen develops, I believe Mr. Tilden's finger will not be permanently affected," said Dr. W. B. Swartley today. Dr. Swartley performed the operation.

"Of course, we hope that no stiffness will result," said the surgeon, "and everything possible will be done to prevent it. It depends entirely on whether the infection of the finger spreads to the tendons or not."

Woman Accused of Cleveland Killings Satisfied With Trial So Far

Cleveland, Oct. 26.—(By A. P.)—Seven women and five men will decide the fate of Mrs. Mabel Chapman, twenty-two, charged with the first-degree murder of Thomas A. O'Connell, carriage proprietor of New Haven, Conn., who was found shot in a restaurant here last July.

The jury will be seated in the hall of justice before the trial opens at 10 o'clock this morning. The trial will be conducted by Judge Monaghan against the drug addicts.

The examination is to be held Tuesday and calls for competitive quiz by the prosecution. With but one call, however, the examination could be held, it would probably not be allowed by the directors.

Applications must be made before tomorrow night. The position calls for men in social and war work.
